Riverset Staff Gets "Crafty" for a Good Cause

PITTSBURGH, PA – Employees of Riverset Credit Union enjoyed an evening of fun and fellowship with residents of the Emmaus Community of Pittsburgh, a non-profit organization that provides residential care for adults with autism and intellectual disabilities.

Riverset team members assisted residents at the South Side location with the preparation for two upcoming fundraising events to benefit Emmaus – their annual golf outing and the Black and Gold Bash. Team members helped create decorative auction items, prepare raffle tickets and more. Afterwards, the group headed to the basement of the converted church rectory for some lively duckpin bowling with the group.

"The Emmaus residents were a joy to be around," said Riverset President/CEO Christine Chojnicki. "Spending time with them is such a pleasure. Their zest for life is refreshing and something to be admired."

Founded in 1990, the primary mission of the Emmaus Community of Pittsburgh is to provide residential homes for persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities and promote public awareness of their needs. Emmaus currently operates five permanent homes in the Pittsburgh area. For more information, visit emmauspgh.org.

Riverset Credit Union is a full service financial institution with assets valued at $124 million as of June 30, 2011. Membership in Riverset is open to individuals and businesses in Allegheny, Beaver and Butler Counties. To learn more, visit riverset.com.
